

Sep 03, 2018 11:14 BST

COMPETITION: Jamie Raven at Tyne Theatre & Opera House

Jamie Raven, the man who made Simon Cowell say “I now actually believe in Magic!” On route to finishing BGT that year as the “Highest Placed Human” Is back doing what he does best as he takes his brand new show “Making Magic” on tour across the country in 2018.

The lovable Magician who headlined the West End Box Office Smash “The Illusionists” before taking his first sell out tour “Jamie Raven - Live” out on the road in 2016 and 2017, will take you on a journey through the magical world in which he operates. Explaining How Magic works? Why Magic works? And what it means to so many different types people. However, as with everything this man does, not always is everything as it seems.

Expect the very unexpected, and to laugh as much as you are mystified. Sit back, relax, and suspend your belief in all you thought was possible and watch as Jamie Raven shows you exactly how for 25 years he has been “Making Magic”.

Competition

We've got a family ticket (2 adults, 2 children or 1 adult, 3 children) up for grabs to see Jamie Raven: Making Magic at Tyne Theatre & Opera House in Newcastle on Saturday 29 September.

- Enter here

Competition closes at midday on Friday 21 September 2018.

Tickets

Tickets for the show can be booked online here.

Go North East website